The action of the Democratic Executive Committee in calling the Congressional primary for June 2, is thought to practically shut out all candidates save the present congressman, Mr. Wheeler. The time is too limited twixt this and June 2 for a candidate to make a thorough canvass of the district and the expense of holding the primary will deter those who might want to make the race this year, expecting defeat, but playing for a place in the race two years from now. As the committee provides that in the event only one candidate announces by May 20, the primary shall be declared off and a certificate of nomination be issued from the committee to such candidate, we feel pretty sure that the people will not be called upon to vote in this primary, and that Mr. Wheeler will have easy sailing in his third venture for congress. We are much in the state of mind the old negro Robin was when Mr. Veatch knocked him down the third time with a wagon standard. Mr. Veatch said as Robin struggled to his feet, "What have you got to say now, Robin?" And the answer was frank and free, "Not a word, Mr. Veatch."—Clinton Democrat.

There are 447,372 white males and 111,898 male negroes, the foreign white males being 115,760. The total male population is 815,105. There are only 20,478 Spaniards, as against 1,296,367 Cubans. There will be 140,000 qualified native voters. The negroes constitute 32 per cent of the population.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. For sale by R. F. Haynes.

An Old Citizen Dead.

Mr. Henry Howerton, one of the old men of the county, died at his home near Mattoon, Friday. He has been in very feeble health several months. He was an honest, good hearted old gentleman.

The remains of Mr. W. C. Clark, a citizen of Livingston county, were taken through this place to his home for burial Sunday. He died very suddenly in the asylum at Hopkinsville Saturday. He had been in the asylum about a year.

More Mining Investments.

Messrs. Morton and Langbach, representatives of the Ohio Consolidated Oil and Gas Co., of Canton, O., are in this section looking after some mineral interest the company has. They have some leases in the vicinity of Salem, and will spend considerable money developing the mines. The company is one of the strongest in the country, and its investing here means that it has faith in the prospects.

Mr. T. M. Page Dead.

Mr. Manning Page, a gentleman formerly well known here, died at his home in St. Louis a few days ago. About twenty years ago he was engaged in mining in this county, the firm of Page & Krause owning and operating the mines that bears its name to-day. Mr. Page was here several months, looking after the business, and had a number of friends among the people of Marion who will regret his death. His death was, it is supposed, the result of heart disease. His physician had but recently told him that he was thus afflicted, but his friends anticipated no immediate danger. A few days later Mr. Page was found dead in his bed.

FELL IN THE FIRE.

A Young Lady Badly Burned, and There is Little Hope of Her Recovery.

Friday a daughter of Mr. Joe Crayne, who lives on the hill southeast of town, kindled up a fire in an old fashion wood fire place, preparatory to doing the family ironing. She was standing in front of the blazing wood, when she had an epileptic fit, and fell forward into the fire. A younger sister was present and attempted to pull the unconscious woman from the flames, but was unable to do so, and she was terribly burned. The flesh was burned to a crisp on her arms and portions of the body. There is little hope of her recovery.

DESICCATED EGGS.

Another Use for the Product of the Hen.

W. O. Stoddard, Jr., representing the Pure Food Company of Newark, N. J., called on me the other day to make some inquiries as to egg production and the location of the most important primary egg market. Mr. Stoddard is interested in a new machine for desiccating eggs, which is said to be an improvement upon the methods formerly in vogue, both as to the quality of the product and the economy of desiccating. Mr. Stoddard gave me a sample of the product, which, he said, had been made about six weeks before. It is of unusually fine grain, dry, of bright attractive color and smells fresh and sweet. An omelet made from this sample had no peculiarities whatever as compared with one made from fresh eggs; the consistency is the same and the flavor all right. Mr. Stoddard claims that the product can be kept indefinitely under proper conditions, and he expects it to find general use in competition with refrigerator eggs. The desiccated article can be used for every purpose for which eggs are used except, of course, where the whole egg is necessary or where whites and yolks must be separated.—Cor. Produce Review.

Disappointing Returns.

Poultry commission merchants say that one reason why a great many shippers are disappointed in the prices they receive on good poultry is that they persist in shipping stock of sizes which are not in demand. Thus enormous quantities of chicks weighing three to four pounds are sent to all the large cities, and as they are neither broilers nor roasters, are sold on the open market at the lowest prices going. Of course the shippers who know that the quality of the stock was good is disappointed with the returns. For the city market there is nothing between the broiler and the roaster. Cockrels not marketed at broiler size should be held for roasters, and if possible should be caponized. If this is done they can be held for a favorable market. Cockrels which have not been caponized must be marketed while soft, no matter how poor the prices are, for after they become hard and "staggy" they bring no more than old cocks.—Farm Poultry.

Buff Leghorns.

The appearance of the Buff Leghorn, the latest addition to the Mediterranean class, was in response to the growing popularity of the buff breeds. The color appears to meet the requirements of those who wish a few with light plumage and with light pin feathers in the dress carcass, desiring at the same time a richer and more showy hue than belongs to the white varieties.

Buff Leghorns have the general practical qualities of the prolific Leghorn class with a distinctive coloring obtained by a dash of blood from the

(Buff Leghorns.)

R. I. Reds. Male and female are of nearly the same color, the shades varying from lemon to a hue almost brownish. The tail should be a very deep buff. Plumage must not be of a mottled appearance and must be free from black or white feathers. The shape is that of the typical Leghorn; light in build but round and plump, with graceful outlines, full breast, well-arched neck, upright tail with flowing feathers, long sickle feathers, but close body plumage.

The Old Sitter.

In the meantime the good wife had procured a few old biddies from a neighbor and set them in old barrels. We passed by them several times each day for all the long twenty-one days. We never looked about the temperature, the moisture or the ventilation. The old biddies didn't either. They just set there and slept. The stupid things! How do they know what the temperature is? One of them is blind in one eye and has her tail feather pulled out. Four of them had 60 eggs when they began to "pipe," the old biddies woke up and said, "Chirr, chirr," with an occasional cluck. Forty-seven chicks crawled out of these 60 eggs. The old blind hen hatched every egg and has not crawled about it, either. She did it with her little "hatchit."—Exchange.

How to Get Winter Eggs.

There are at least three things necessary for winter eggs—right kind of fowl, comfortable accommodations and proper food and water. It takes two years old the coming spring, providing they are through moulting by the first of November, are reliable winter layers. Pullets that were hatched before the 10th of May should also give us eggs during winter.

Progress in Breeding.

A man need not be very old to remember when a 1,400 to 1,500 pound horse was a heavy draft horse, or a three-minute trotter a speedy roadster. Times have changed, however, and the heavy draft horse must weigh 300 to 500 pounds more and the roadster go a good many seconds faster to be classed as good ones of their kind. It takes a better horse to be a good one nowadays than it did ten or twenty or thirty years ago. The ideals of those days will not serve. The breeders must aim to get the kind that ranks high to-day, and this is the only kind that is going to pay for his oats hereafter.

HORSES IN WINTER.

How to Keep Them Where the Climate is Not Too Severe.

To keep idle horses or young growing colts over a year in the stable during the winter season is not only very expensive in feed and labor, but is frequently of positive injury to the horses themselves. The horse requires a great deal of exercise, and when this exercise is not given in the way of work, they should be allowed to take it in the open fields. The cheapest and best way of caring for horses, whether idle or young, through the winter season, is to turn them out on a blue grass pasture which has not been pastured down closely in the fall. This, with a shed to run under during severe storms, a hay or straw stack, and access to salt and water, is all that this class of horses need, and they thrive much better under it than if kept up in the stable. Much of the vigor and stamina of the young horses is due to their free life and abundant exercise.

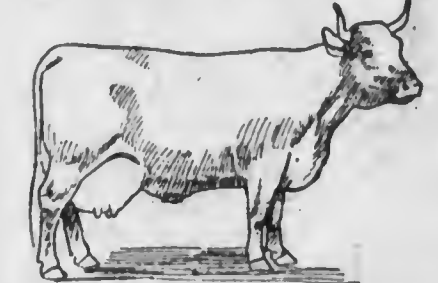

We do not believe in under-feeding. Growing horses, especially, should be well fed. If not, there cannot be sufficient growth, but blue grass pasture, such as we have mentioned, gives them about as good feed in winter as they have on grass in the summer, and if there is six inches of snow on the ground, all the better, for the reason that the blue grass keeps green under the snow and horses will have no difficulty in discovering it. They will grow a long coat of hair and look shaggy and rough, but we will take our chances for a good summer's work with horses kept in this way rather than with horses that have been kept in the stable and fed, as they are almost certain to be, on corn.

Almost equal to that method is that of allowing them the run of a field of corn stalks and adjoining it a field of second crop clover. We have tried both ways and find less difference than might be expected. Whether on blue grass or on clover, horses running at large should have a little grain in March and April for the reason that the spring rains render the pasture less nutritious. We have tried these methods for about fifteen years and know whereof we speak.

We do not recommend this method for weanling colts. They should be fed a good ration of corn and oats and allowed free access during the daytime to open yards or fields. A colt stunted the first year, as many are by insufficient feed and shelter, is stunted for life, and will lose at least 100 pounds in mature weight, which is worth anywhere from ten to fifty cents a pound. There is no more short-sighted economy than that of stinting the grain feed of colts the first winter. When you are laying the foundation, get it as large as you can, provided it is made of good material.—Wallace's Farmer.

Brown Swiss.

Developed as a dairy breed primarily, Brown Swiss cows yield a generous flow of milk and hold out well. Good specimens may be expected to give an average of ten quarts for every day in the year. Six thousand pounds a year is an ordinary record, and single instances are known to reach eight to ten thousand pounds. Brienzi 168 was imported from Switzerland into Connecticut and became the most noted cow of her breed in this country. More than this she produced the largest quantity of butter fat in a day ever recorded in America at a public test. At the Chicago show (1891) her average daily record for three days was 21.7 pounds of milk, containing 3.11 pounds of fat. This was equivalent to more than 3 1/2 pounds of butter per day. She was then 11 years old and weighed 1,410 pounds.

FORAGE CROPS.

How They Can Be Used At a Decided Profit.

All farmers on small or moderately sized holdings who keep live stock should also grow forage crops in addition to their grass pastures, since they so much reduce the area required for the latter. As a rule, the necessity for growing these crops will increase with the less favorable conditions for growing grass pastures and vice versa.

When farmers generally who live upon arable lands give that attention to the growing of this class of forage crops which they ought to from the standpoint of self interest, no limit can be set to the possible increase in live stock and live stock products. More especially will this be true when they give that attention also to the growing of soiling and fodder which their importance demands. In those encouraging days that are drawing near, the production in these lines that will be obtained from the small areas would astonish many of the farmers of to-day. And the increase will no less apply to the quantity than to the quality of the product, because of the suitable character of the food furnished, because of its seasonableness and because of its abundance.

When nearly 100 sheep can be pastured from the closing days of April to the opening days of November on ten acres of such forage, as has been done at the Minnesota University experiment farm, the possibilities in live stock production light up with a peculiar brightness. When it is remembered that the soil was sandy, that the subsoil was sand or gravel or a mixture of the two, that the land had been but feebly fertilized, the brightness grows more radiant. And when it is called to mind that ten tons of cured fodder and ten tons of soiling food were also taken from the same ten acres during the growing period, and that much used forage was ploughed under as green manure, the argument of possible production becomes all the more convincing. The first to look at those happy indications will probably be the first to engage in growing forage crops.—New England Homestead.

THE CASE

That the Commonwealth Expects to Prove it.

(Louisville News.)

From an authentic source your correspondent learned, to-day what the prosecution expected to prove in connection with the Goebel assassination. The following is only a brief outline:

"Gov. Taylor, Charles Finley and Caleb Powers conceived the idea of starting a row in the State House. Finley and Powers were the promoters. Governor Taylor finally agreed.

"The idea had not been entirely abandoned when Henry E. Youtsey approached W. H. Culton, a clerk in the auditor's office, and told him how easy it would be to shoot Goebel as he came to the Senate chamber. The escape to the cellar and then out was easy. Finley and Powers were apprised of this; Gov. Taylor was not.

"Youtsey was a crack shot, but when asked to do the work, demurred. Caleb and John Powers and Charles Finley and others then arranged a meeting to be held at London, Laurel county, on Sunday, January 28. The meeting was held. The killing was arranged to take place on Monday, January 29. For some reason Jim Howard, who was to fire the shot, remained over at the house of Bev. White.

"Howard did not get in until Tuesday. He left the train, walked to the executive building, and there final arrangements were made which led to the firing of the shot that killed Senator Goebel.

"The prosecution further expects to prove that Senator Goebel was killed by a bullet from a Marlin rifle; that the rifle had belonged to Youtsey; that Youtsey had raffled it off, and that when the fatal shot was fired it belonged to Grant Roberts; that Youtsey secretly obtained possession of it, and as secretly put it back in the cellar of the executive building.

"The prosecution expects to prove by Senator Alexander, of Louisville, that he was in Gov. Taylor's office when the shot was fired; that Gov. Taylor drew a revolver and ran out of the office; that George Hemphill, one of the clerks in the Assistant Secretary of State's office, saw Gov. Taylor trying the door leading into the Secretary of State's office and heard him say it was a shame the door was locked.

"Gov. Taylor's action: the prosecution will hold, is expected to prove conclusively that Gov. Taylor knew from what office the shot came.

"The prosecution expects to prove that Jim Howard and Henry E. Youtsey were the only occupants of the Secretary of State's office, and that the shot was fired either by Howard or Youtsey, while the man who fired the shot was reclining on a lounge, with the butt of the rifle resting on a lounge beneath the second window from the west end of the executive building and the barrel resting on the window sill.

"The prosecution expects further to prove that several days after the shooting Youtsey went to Culton and offered him money to leave the State; that Youtsey said that Taylor wanted him to leave; that Culton went with Youtsey to Gov. Taylor and asked why his absence was desirable, and that Gov. Taylor said: 'Don't say anything more about it.'

"Capt. John Davis, the prosecution expects to prove, fed the mountain feudists at his house.

"Green Golden was only aiding his brother, F. Golden, in collecting the mountain feudists.

"W. L. Hazelipp, the prosecution expected to prove, but failed to do before the grand jury, gave a man named Black a revolver and not to let the get out of his sight. He is supposed to have been Senator Goebel.

"The defense has not yet shown its hands."

INVESTIGATION DONE.

Frankfort, Ky., April 23.—The grand jury reconvened at 11 o'clock this morning and went to work on minor criminal matters. It is understood that the investigation of the assassination of Gov. Goebel is for the present and probably permanently closed, as far as that body is concerned. The grand jury is expected to adjourn and die the latter part of the week.

HOWARD NOT AT HOME.

Knoxville, Tenn., April 23.—A special to the Sentinel from Middlesboro says a Bell county deputy sheriff has the warrant for the arrest of Berry Howard for the assassination of Goebel, but that Howard is not in that county. He is supposed to be in Harlan county in the mountain fastnesses. A gentleman from Barbourville, Ky., states he saw John Powers in a cabin in Brushy mountain last Saturday.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers' and grandmothers' never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Bilioousness. Doctors were scarce and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by R. F. Haynes.

BOOK NOTICE.

Discoverers and Explorers. By Edward R. Shaw, Dean of the School of Pedagogy, New York University, 12mo, 120 pages, illustrated. Price, 35 cents. American Book Co., New York, Cincinnati and Chicago.

In Shaw's Discoverers and Explorers we find one of the most attractive little books for supplementary reading which has been recently published. It should be read by the young pupil after he has gained by observation and inference a general knowledge of the locality in which he lives, and will prove excellent for collateral work in connection with the more advanced geography. History and geography are in this way taught together, and it is suddenly brought to his mind that there is a larger world, which hitherto has been unknown to him. The various discoveries are in turn described, and he gradually grasps a true conception of the world as it is. The wonderful adventures of those daring explorers are told in simple and familiar language, yet in such a fascinating way that they cannot fail to interest the child.

The P. N. Corset Co.,

of New York City, has given us the sole agency for their Celebrated Molded Corset. All have cork protected rust proof clasps and all steels are protected from rust staining your underwear. They are the only corsets that do not press in at the pit of the stomach, and will make an irregular form a perfect one.

No doubt you have accused your modiste when fitting your waist of making you appear broad and with a thick figure, but such is not the case with the modiste; this is caused only by the ill-fitting corset and if you want to have a perfect figure, try the celebrated P. N. Molded Corset, it will give you the most graceful figure and with such outlines of gracefulness that your dress waists will be wonderfully improved. They give you beautiful curves over the hips and a straight front effect.

We have in our windows a display of this celebrated corset, showing the anatomy of the most graceful forms that have ever been on exhibition.

You are cordially invited to examine these corsets. Every pair is guaranteed to give the utmost satisfaction or your money is refunded. If once worn, you will wear no other.

HIS BONANZA,

And What He is Going to do for His Friends, When it Pans out.

"Talking about your valuable spar and zinc mines," said Dr. Bob Moore to a representative of this paper, "I have got her. I purchased a 150 acre tract in the belt the other day, and there is a vein of lead and spar clean across it that will discount anything in this country when it is uncovered, and that vein stands out as prominent as rocks in the average Crittenden road. It is some six to nine feet across and the mineral protrudes above the surface as the backbone of the ridge rooting, razor back swine stands out distinct from the other portions of the hog's anatomy. It is so rich in lead and that mineral is of such a soft composition that the summer sun would melt it, if it were too greatly exposed. The waste has been so great on this account that I have arranged to have the vein covered with soft earth before the hot season sets in. The topographers of the county tell me that Marion is higher than that point, if this were not so I would put in pipes and this summer expose it to the sun and pipe it to town, thereby saving the expense of wagon transportation. As the matter now stands I will not undertake to work the claim before late in the fall. Zinc? Of course, there is zinc; and it is in such a pure state that the people have been making their well buckets from it ever since wells and cisterns began to displace the famous mineral springs of that section. You just wait until I begin to realize on this investment and I will settle up the account of every delinquent subscriber on your books." When asked if it would not be prudent to make out the accounts at once, the doctor cracked his cane on the sidewalk as he moved away, saying: "Wait till fall."

My little four year old girl's eyes were so weak from birth, that she could not stand any light at all. Was treated by several physicians without benefit. Three bottles not only restored her sight, but made her stronger and healthier than she ever was in her life.

For Malaria, Chills and Fever

THE BEST PRESCRIPTION IS Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's. Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called Tasteless Chill Tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. ISSUED WEEKLY.

R. C. WALKER, Publisher.

ONE YEAR ONE DOLLAR

After all, maybe those Eastern Democrats who rode out of the party on Mr. Cleveland's back are preparing to ride in again on the Admiral's ship. Let them sail in and take their places in the line, not at the head of the procession.

During the operations around Manila last week 378 Filipinos were killed and 2244 captured, and the wounded bringing the total up to one thousand. This is a pretty good showing in view of the statement that war has practically ceased.

Leonard Wood, Governor General of Cuba, receives $7,500 as Major General in the army, $7,500 from the Cuban revenues and about $2,000 in allowances for quarters, rations, horses, etc. He probably thinks that it will be some time before the Cubans are capable of self-government.

If Mr. Finley will come home, stand his trial and demonstrate that he is an innocent man, greatly persecuted, he will gratify his friends and silence his enemies much quicker than by drawing diagrams for the delation of the Hoosier Governor.

Why not require candidates in the regular elections to bear the expense of holding the elections? These elections, we presume, are held solely for the benefit of the candidates, and the people are really putting themselves to a whole lot of unnecessary trouble when they go to the polls to vote.

Paducah wants Admiral Dewey. See sent him an invitation to call, and along with the letter were twelve quart bottles of the celebrated "Brook Hill" twenty-year-old whisky. The Admiral delayed the reply a few days and then sent word that he would see them later.

Mr. Colson risked his life and liberty with a Kentucky court, and has no cause of complaint. Indeed it seems to be universally conceded that the jury did the right thing. This should be encouraging to the other gentlemen, who are boasting of their innocence. Let the facts go before the jury and the country at as early a date as possible, and then we can once more have peace.

After a time it is going to be as expensive to run for Congress in our own dear old bucolic district as it is in some of the cities, where only the rich are expected to apply. We need to get back to some of the simplicity of the fathers, when a Democrat took pride in serving as an officer of the primary, feeling that it was an honor to serve his party.

If Mr. Taylor has really been indicted, it seems to us that he owes it to his own party, to say nothing of the State and the country, to go large, to court the freest and fullest investigation. Indeed, we are not sure that he should not urgently solicit an investigation of every circumstance upon which there are the remotest grounds for the slightest suspicion of any connection on his part with the lamentable affair. At the time of the tragedy he was discharging the functions of the highest and most distinguished office in the State. He stood as the representative of his party, chosen from among the party's leaders and heroes, and in choosing him the party placed its stamp of approval upon him and he became the recipient of its honor, its ideal, its integrity; its devotion to its conception of right was placed in his keeping. He stood as its representative, and now, if he appreciates the honor; if he values the esteem in which he was held; if he is proud of the confidence imposed in him, he, of all men, should be the first to seek, to court, to demand an investigation that would throw the light so completely over, through and about every incident and every circumstance connected with the affair as to put to shame his accusers, disperse the cloud that might hang over any circumstance and to show to those who trusted him that their confidence and their good name was in safe keeping. We may see through partisan glasses darkly, but it does occur to us about this way.

We observe some very warm dispatches, letters or cablegrams in the Post and Paducah Register, purporting to be from Marion, and telling how awful mad Ollie James' friends are about the action of the Congressional committee. Like other cablegrams frequently to be found in these Taylor-made papers, those were in all probability cut out, sewed together, labeled and fitted on in their offices.

Next Monday is April 30—the day, or thereabout, for something to happen at Washington.

NOT A CANDIDATE.

Last week Mr. Ollie James announced to his friends definitely that he would not be a candidate for Congress. This announcement will be a disappointment to his friends in the district and throughout the State, and especially to the Democracy of his home county, where he would have commanded the most loyal support of every Democrat. The Democracy of Crittenden have looked forward, with a commendable pride, to the time when one sprung from among them, bone of their bone and blood of their blood, as it were, should enter the arena for Congressional honors, knowing that the young champion of Democracy would not only add strength to the organization and cause, but bring honor to the good old county of Crittenden. The Press does not speak by the card in discussing the matters that lead Mr. James to reach the conclusion he has. While there were probably other matters that entered materially into the situation that lead him to decline the earnest solicitations of friends over the district to become a candidate, we believe the action of the committee in calling the primary at a date so early that it would have been impossible to make anything like a satisfactory canvass, and the further determination of the committee to place an unusual burden upon those who might aspire to the honors of the party, had much to do in shaping his course. While for the past eight or ten years, he has answered the call of his party and its standard bearers whenever and wherever the demand was made, always in the thickest of the fight, both in and out of the district, he has never, directly or indirectly, made his work for the party and its nominees subservient to any ambition he might have entertained, hence it is but natural to conclude that thirty days is insufficient time to make a canvass of a district embracing so much territory as this. For the past ten years Ollie James has spent his money and neglected his practice to answer the calls of his party; he is not a rich man, and it is but natural for it to grate harshly upon his home friends that the party he has served so ably, so generously and so devoutly should call upon him for a big bonus for the privilege of simply asking for honors that his ability and devotion merits, to say nothing of his eminent services.

While we would like to have seen Mr. James in this contest, and while the committee has set up impediments that, we hope, will not always exist in the party that has not heretofore made opportunity a qualification for aspirants to its honors, we have the satisfaction of knowing that it does not take official dignity and prestige to give our distinguished countyman a commanding position in the party councils. He was one of the leaders who placed the laurels upon the brow of the great Nebraskan at Chicago in '96, and when Mr. Bryan was in the state later he expressed his appreciation of Ollie James' work. In the memorable campaign of that year and since, the party leaders have shown their high estimate of his ability and their faith in him by placing him in the hottest of the fights. Mr. Goebel showed his faith in the ability and courage of the Crittenden Democrat, when he called him to Frankfort to co-counsel in the great contest. While committees may line the road that leads to Congress with difficulties, Ollie James will live in the hearts of the people no matter who wears official togs.

Gen. Castleman has notified the persons interested that partisanship must be avoided in the reorganization of the State Guard, he says the new companies must represent all shades of political opinion. This position will meet the approval of the public. A partisan soldiery, in the hands of those disposed to use it as such, would be nothing short of a curse to the State, and the evils that would grow out of it in trying times, would be ten fold greater than any good it would do at any time.

By a vote of 33 to 32 the Senate decided that Mr. Quay, who was appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania, was not entitled to his seat as a Senator. Senator Lindsay voted against and Senator Deboe for seating him.

Every Month

there are thousands of women who nearly suffer death from irregular menses. Sometimes the "period" comes too often—sometimes not often enough—sometimes the flow is too scant, and again it is too profuse. Each symptom shows that Nature needs help, and that there is trouble in the organs concerned. Be careful when in any of the above conditions. Don't take any and every nostrum advertised to cure female troubles.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR

is the one safe and sure medicine for irregular or painful menstruation. It cures all the ailments that are caused by irregularity, such as leucorrhea, falling of the womb, nervousness, pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides, hips and limbs. By regulating the menses so that they occur every twenty-eight days, all those aches disappear together. Just before your time comes, get a bottle and see how much good it will do you. Druggists sell it at $1.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY,

CALL FOR JUNE 2, TO NOMINATE A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

At a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of the First Congressional District of Kentucky, composed of the chairmen of the 13 counties of said district, held at Fulton, Ky., April 17, 1900, a majority of said committee being present:

It is ordered and directed that a primary election be held in said district on Saturday, June 2, 1900, for the purpose of selecting the Democratic nominee as a candidate for congress, to be voted for at the next November election, to represent the people of the First Congressional District of Kentucky in 57th Congress of the United States.

And it is hereby ordered and directed that the county chairmen of the respective counties shall select two Democrats for each voting place in his county, who shall open a poll and hold said election from 8 o'clock a. m. on said 2d day of June, to 6 o'clock p. m. on said day; that said election shall be by secret ballot, and each and every candidate for said nomination may have one inspector present, at the respective voting places, when the vote is being counted.

At the close of the polls, at 6 o'clock p. m., the two election officers aforesaid shall count the votes, ascertain the number of votes cast for each candidate, and certify the result of said election for the precinct in which they are acting, to the chairman of the County Executive Committee in said county, on or before Tuesday following; and on Thursday thereafter, June 7, 1900, the county chairmen of the respective counties in said Congressional District, shall reconvene at Paducah, Ky., at the Palmer House in said city, at 2 o'clock p. m., and count the votes cast in said primary election, as appears from the returns of the precinct election officers, and the candidate receiving a plurality of votes cast at said precinct election shall be declared the Democratic nominee for Congress in the said First Congressional District, to be voted for at the November election, 1900. All persons who voted for Bryan in 1896, those persons who only declare their intentions to affiliate with the Democratic party in the future, and such Democratic youths as may attain the age of 21 years before the November election are hereby declared eligible to participate in said primary election.

And be it further provided, That the expense of holding the said primary election shall be paid by the candidates for said nomination, and the same shall be assessed ratably and proportionately against said candidates, and the chairmen of the respective counties are hereby directed to ascertain the least possible expense of holding election, but not to exceed $3.50 to the precinct for officers, each chairman to report on his own county to the chairman of this committee on or before the 10th day of May, 1900, and the candidates for said nomination are hereby requested to report their candidacy to the said district chairman, the Hon. Mott Ayres, on or before said date—the 10th day of May, and the said Ayres, chairman of this committee, is hereby directed to at once, upon the report of the committee to him of the expense—notify the candidates (who have reported their candidacy to him) the amount of their respective portion of said expense due to each county, and the candidates for said nomination will then be expected and required to remit to the respective chairman of the several counties of the district, their respective portion of said expense, as reported to them by the said chairman of this committee, and at the same time advise the said chairman of their said remittances, to the respective County Chairman; but if, on the 20th day of May, 1900, it shall appear that there is not more than one candidate for said nomination, and but one candidate has reported his candidacy to the district chairman and made his remittances to the respective County Chairmen of his proportional part of the expense, and make his report to the chairman of this committee of such remittances, then, in that event, the said chairman is at once to reconvene the committee at the Palmer House in the city of Paducah, on the 26th day of May, 1900, at 2 o'clock p. m., announce that no primary will be held, and to declare the said candidate, whoever he may be, the Democratic nominee for Congress in said district.

And be it further provided, That this primary election is called, not under the laws of Kentucky, but under Democratic usages and customs.

FOUND A GOLD MINE.

IT WAS IN HIS POULTRY YARD.

Man in Iowa Uses a Compound That Makes His Hens Lay Double the Usual Number Summer and Winter. Secret of his Success.

People in the neighborhood of Creston, Iowa, are amazed at the number of eggs that this man drives to market with. When asked what was the cause of his hens being so prolific, he stated that it was all in a certain compound he was using, that kept his hens in good condition and furnished them with the proper stimulus to egg production. American Poultry Mixture is the name of it, and is made by the American Mfg. Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Every man in the poultry business is interested in the health of his hens and their laying capacity. In the eggs lie his profits. This mixture is guaranteed to increase the production of eggs 100 per cent or money refunded. It will do more than three times as much as the same amount of any other compound. It is concentrated in form and the result of years of practical experience in the poultry business. There is absolutely no doubt as to what it will do, and you are invited to try it at the expense of the company. Send $1.00 for a sample package and if it doesn't do the work you get your money back. This is fair and is made to induce practical poultrymen to give a trial. It is also a sure preventive of such diseases as the terrible cholera and roup which create such havoc in all parts of the country. It acts directly on the craw and gizzard and is a thoroughly scientific preparation.

The manufacturers guarantee every package or refund purchase money. If your druggist don't sell American Poultry Mixture, he's behind the age. In that case order direct from the American Mfg. Co., Terre Haute, Ind.

SENT TO THE ASYLUM.

Mrs. W. E. Lewis is Adjudged Insane and Taken to Hopkinsville.

The wife of Mr. Emily Lewis, a highly respected young farmer of the Frances neighborhood, was brought to town Thursday for the purpose of having judicial inquiry made concerning the condition of her mind. A jury was summoned and the investigation made, and she was taken to the asylum at Hopkinsville Friday. For some months she has given evidences of insanity, but her husband and friends were loath to take the steps that they were at last forced to take. They hoped that she would recover, and they would be spared the ordeal, but it was otherwise, and guided by a desire to the best for the unfortunate woman, they decided to place her where she could have the attention of those skilled in the treatment of the maledy. She leaves four children at home, the oldest being but ten years old. At one time Mrs. Lewis was a teacher in this county, and she was a bright woman. Her father, whose name was Boone, died in the asylum thirty-five years ago.

A Horrible Outbreak.

"Of large sores on my little daughter's head developed into a case of scald head," writes C. C. Ishill of Morgantown, Tenn., but Bucklen's Arnica Salve completely cured her. It's a guaranteed cure for Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Sores, Ulcers and Piles, Only 25c at J. H. Orme's.

New York, April 19.—John G. Carlisle, former Secretary of the Treasury, said last evening that he had been asked by W. S. Taylor's counsel to appear for him in the United States Supreme Court in the Kentucky gubernatorial case, but that he had declined to do so because he was too busily occupied with other matters.
